cent. compared with last year. Just what the reason for the decrease is the trade is not prepared to say. However, Just at present the arrivals of logs are over estimates, although still short of last year's involvent. Consumptive demand is still lively, and stocks are decreasing. This is especially true of lard.

"I bought a good deal of that stock," said Mr. Goodwin, squinting critically at one of his sketch "masterpieces" which hung on the wall to recall a former performance of "The Genius." "I bought so much of it at T cents a share that I found myself $80.00 to the good to-night when it closed on the curb at 50 cents."

Mr. Goodwin seemed pleased with his paper fortune, though he mentioned with regret the investment in a "dress suit case full" of another stock at 40 cents a share and its sale at %, "when now it's quoted at $8." There are other equally attractive quoisitons on the curb—till somehody desires to sell.
